What's New in the Foxlet Wallet?

Foxlet Wallet is a desktop client for Stellar that does not only permit you to manage cryptocurrency efficiently, but also comes with enhanced security features and encryption. Check your payments and transactions anytime Following a quick and uneventful installation, you are prompted to add your Stellar account credentials or you can log in via a guest account, if you prefer to check the features first. The main window includes a short presentation of the app and a summary of the currency it supports. According to the developer, the app fully supports the federation protocols and embeds the fed.network service as well. Managing your tokens and transactions can be done easily from various menus. Therefore, you can preview a full list of the latest payments, transactions made and latest effects. In addition, you can preview your balance, current asset and the associated trust limit. As far as trading is concerned, the app displays a quick way to buy and sell along with various offers. Allows you to trusted sources and invest in ICO While the developers do not endorse any of the source, they offer you the possibility to add trust sources with whom you trade frequently. Consequently, you can choose from the provided list or add your own source via the federation or manually. Later on, you can easily deposit or withdraw funds in fiat or other blockchains without too much hassle. In case you added a trust line, then you have the option to access Trade – Convert and use any currency to purchase the ICO. Then again, the developers recommend that you take the time and learn the ins and outs of ICO and the risks involved before investing. As a side note, the app also includes a few projects, but neither is endorsed by the developer. A straightforward tool for managing cryptocurrency All in all, Foxlet Wallet is a versatile and scalable currency management tool that enables you to keep a close eye on your finances. In addition to effortless trading, the app is designed to facilitate offer management, sending and even investing, if you decide to get involved.
