Object Selection allows you to quickly select objects (e.g. people, buildings, doors, etc.) in the image and manipulate them. The Liquify command is useful for transforming the shape and size of objects in the photo. It is not limited to only applying filters, it can actually be used as a form of transformation, sculpting, and modifying objects. Painting tools, including both painting and text tools, allow you to easily make adjustments to images or backgrounds. The Gradient tool can be used to add interesting effects to images. The Healing Brush can be used to smooth out skin or other imperfections. The Magic Wand tool will select a specific area from an image for you, no matter what the source is. It also has a number of settings which allow you to choose how much or how little of the selected area is converted. The Pen tool is a great way to add basic sketched effects or artistic flair to an image. The Puppet Warp tool allows you to easily distort the edges of an object, it even has a number of settings to control how the effect will be applied. The Burn tool allows you to remove a specific area of the image, similar to the Magic Wand tool. The Eraser allows you to remove a specific area of the image, similar to the Healing Brush tool. The Levels tool allows you to adjust the brightness and contrast of an image. It also includes a Histogram, which shows the distribution of the colors in the image. The Select tool allows you to transform the image and to select and transform specific areas of it. The Dodge and Burn tools work like the Levels tool and allow you to adjust the contrast in images. The Dodge tool works to remove some of the shadows and highlights of an image, while the Burn tool works to add some of the highlights and shadows. The Smudge and Blur tools let you blur an area of an image, for a change of perspective or to hide details or simply to get creative. The Healing tool is a great tool for repairing spots in your image, as it lets you mask the areas in your image that you want to stay the same. The Spot Healing tool can be used to fill a spot in your image. It is actually very powerful and can handle a wide range of features. It can be very effective for fixing stray hairs or dandruff in your photo, and repairing old scratches or smoke marks on your images. The Warp tool is also useful for applying distortions to
